

PILLAI COLLEGE OF ARTS, COMMERCE AND SCIENCE

SOCIAL ACTIVITY REPORT

Social Awareness Cell

2012-2013

Department of Information Technology and Computer Science

In association with a NGO "Rhiday Sparsh", IT and CS department organized a Christmas Party on December 26, 2012 at "St. Jude India Childcare Center, TATA Hospital, Kharghar. Students of the department spent a full day with children there. Those cute, innocent kids really had a nice time playing & colouring with our students. The kids relished the cake & snacks arranged for the party.

Our students took initiative to plant Vegetable plants and Fruit trees near those areas in Kharghar where under privileged people reside. By this plantation drive it would be easier for the people to get vegetables & fruits, which otherwise are beyond their reach. Also plantation would preserve the environment.

The alarming height of accidents, tragic loss of thousands of human lives and enormous costs of the accidents on road virtually transformed this crucial crisis from nobody's concern to everybody's concern. Out of this concern, The Department conducted a "Road Safety Awareness Drive" in Panvel on January 24, 2013

BMS Department

BMS Students & Teachers contributed and donated stationary and cash of Rs.4000/- to Gyanashram, Kalamboli in the month of December, 2012.

Self Defense Workshop was organized for Female Students in the month of January, 2013 by Krav Maga.

Department of Financial Market:

The Financial Market department initiated Community programme which was spearheaded by Students of First Year, Second Year and Third Year students jointly. The Community service programme was organised along with the Departmental Fest –FESTIOFINANZA on 6th February 2013. The Rotary school for Deaf and Dumb students - New Panvel was invited as Guest of Honour. The Students gifted them handmade tiaras and distributed biscuits and chocolates. They also performed to entertain the children, which were an exhilarating experience for the School students. The students of Rotary school also performed which was an inspirational act, in spite of their Hearing Disability.

Department of Biotechnology

Teachers from the Department of Biotechnology and the Vice-Principal contributed collectively around Rs 5700/- towards the balance fees of Ms. Fauziya a Second year B.Sc. Biotechnology student, whose family was experiencing economic difficulties.

Community Service Day

PCACS hosted residents from Ramkrishna Niketan and Rajeev Rajan Adhargrah, Shantivan, Nere (both shelters for elderly) on February 2nd, 2013 as part of the Community service day.

Thirty Five elderly men and women, who have been staying there away from their children and family due to various issues, visited our campus on this day and spend quality time interacting with our teachers and student volunteers. Post Lunch and the multi-entertainment programme arranged by students of different institutes under MES, we assembled in Ground floor, Architecture studio and spend the rest of the afternoon, chatting, singing and dancing. The spirit and enthusiasm of the elderly was extraordinary, and made each of the teaching staff members to come forward and put forth some entertainment programme. Teachers of all the departments enjoyed the antakshari rounds.

CSD, definitely is an idea well received by the staff and students and is well on the way towards forging a community partnership that changes lives. Many of our teachers were moved, with the interactions with the elderly and the student volunteers had a more matured outlook towards their parents and grand-parents.

Through their teamwork and dedication to volunteerism, teachers can serve as powerful role models for the students. PCACS is committed in making a difference in the social outlook of the students and the staff and contribute towards the improvement of the society.

In charge

Social Awareness Cell (PCACS)